

Tanzeela Mazhar

Tanzeela Mazhar is a prominent journalist from Pakistan. She has vast experience in print and online media. For the past 15 years, Mazhar has worked with several mainstream media outlets as an anchor, writer and media expert. She has earned a reputation as an independent journalist with strong opinions on social and political issues. She has covered regional and national events as a writer. She writes on social issues particularly on gender disparities and social injustice. Her views on gender rights are well received in Pakistan.

Mazhar is the general secretary for South Asian Women In Media SAWM Pakistan. She has organized several national and regional conferences and workshops. Her fight against harassment in the workplace has changed the landscape for working women. She is running a campaign to improve the work environment for women in Pakistan. She tweets at @tenzilamazhar